

MISSOURI NEWS

What do Jessica Alba, Elizabeth Banks, Peter Boyle, Peter Coyote, Aaron Eckhart, Thomas Jane, Johnny Knoxville, Diane Lane, Jason London, Penny Marshall, Luke Perry, Mickey Rourke and Blair Underwood have in common? – They were all in Missouri to make movies in 2006!

But there’s even more that went on in Missouri in 2006. We thought we would take a break from the regular Weekly Wrap-up and give you faithful readers a chance to demonstrate your knowledge of moviemaking in Missouri AND win a fabulous prize (the official Missouri Film Office sweatshirt, suitable attire for any occasion)! The first three readers to email us the correct answers to the questions below at mofilm@missouri.edu will each get a coveted sweatshirt. (jingle bell not included)

Thanks for your part in bringing film and television production to Missouri, we hope you have a healthy and prosperous 2007.

1. The NBC series “America’s got Talent” held open auditions in eight U.S. cities September. What Missouri city was included?
2. What feature film shot on location in St. Louis and Drake in October and November?
3. In 2003, “Hoosiers” director David Anspaugh came to St. Louis to make a film about the 1950 U.S. World Cup soccer team, called “The Game of Their Lives.” The movie was released on video in September with a new name. What’s the new name?
4. The Columbia Convention and Visitors Bureau has been organizing a support association for the Missouri Film Office, similar to the Missouri Tourism Council’s relationship to the Division of Tourism. What is the acronym for this new association?
5. Kansas City director Don Maxwell premiered his latest film, shot in Belton, at Filmfest Kansas City. What was the name of the film?

(Answers in the next Weekly Wrap-up.)